DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless —

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1, 4, and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Barkac et al. (6,077,608).

Barkac et al. teach substrates having coatings there on (films) which are “co-cured”, (meaning cross linked. (column 1, lines 20-45 and claim 1). The films contain cross linking agents which would react at the interface between the layers to form a cross linked interface.

3. Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Ciocca et al. (5,914,164).

4. Ciocca et al. teach five-layer shrinkable films comprising (i) an oxygen barrier core comprising EVOH, (ii) two outer skin layers, and (iii) two inner adhesive layers. The adhesive layers generally comprise a modified polyolefin blended with a polyolefin (column 8, lines 18+). Examples of the olefin include polyethylene. The whole film is cross-linked by electron-beam irradiation in which cross-link controlling additives may be added to various layers in the film (column 11). This also includes the addition of cross-linking agents which trigger the cross-linking reaction.

5. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by WO 97/36741.
6. See the examples in which the layers are cross-linked.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

7. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

8. Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ciocca et al. (5,914,164).
9. Ciocca et al. teach cross-linked films in which cross-linking controllers / aids may be added to the layers (see above). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to have used these additive in multiple / contiguous layers so that the cross-linking of the structure could be controlled.
